Moving into our 20th year in business serving the US Military,

I am more excited than ever. With new products coming out almost monthly, the technology business is moving at a screaming pace. With that said, Celebrity is here to bring you the best in sound, lighting and video innovation. From design, to application and, of course, training!

With the growing influx of new MWR professionals, training is critical and we at Celebrity are here to offer our 20 years of experience and guidance to ensure the absolute success of your projects.

Celebrity is a fully-committed provider. We're out there with you...not only building MWR and meeting systems that keep our troops informed, uplifted and entertained...but showing up faithfully to service what we sell, whenever and wherever that may be.

Since 1988, Celebrity has attended, sponsored and/or otherwise participated in hundreds of military events and trade shows, not to mention countless camps and bases, on all corners of the globe. We've even added a timeline of our history to this latest edition of the SmartBuy Catalog. We're proud to serve and we value your business.

Thank you for your trust and confidence in the past. We look forward to another 20 years of getting it right with the U.S. Military.
